THE LADY OF FIRE

Mount St. Helens is an active volcano in Washington in the northwest of the USA. It's close to two other active volcanoes, Mount Adams and Mount Hood. The Puyallup, a Native American tribe, tell a story about the creation of these volcanoes. 1

Loowitlatkla had a very important job; it was her responsibility to make sure that the only fire in the world never went out. 2 People came from all over the world to take a small piece of hot wood from Loowitlatkla's fire so that they could start their own smaller fires for their tribes.

Chief Tyee Sahale was very thankful for Loowitlatkla's work. He realised that she worked day and night to keep the fire going. So, one day, he came to Loowitlatkla to give her a gift. 3 The chief expected her to be very happy, but instead she began crying. "I'm very thankful," Loowitlatkla explained, "but I don't want to be an old woman forever." The chief understood and turned her into an attractive young woman.

One afternoon, two brothers came to the bridge to collect fire. They were the two sons of Chief Tyee Sahale – Klickitat and Wyeast. 4 Loowitlatkla couldn't make the decision, so the brothers started destroying villages and forests around them.

When the chief saw them, he angrily shouted at them to stop. Then, since they ignored him, he smashed the bridge that held the fire, and knocked his sons and Loowitlatkla down. But even though he was angry with them, he still loved them. 5 To match her beauty, the chief changed Loowitlatkla into Mount St. Helens. He also changed Wyeast, the confident son, into Mount Hood. As for Klickitat, who was the most emotional, he became Mount Adams.

- A It was clear that Loowitlatkla had no interest in the offer.
- B They ordered Loowitlatkla to give them the fire.
- C So, where each person fell, he turned them into a mighty mountain.
- D At that time, Loowitlatkla was an old woman, so he gave her eternal life.
- E When they saw Loowitlatkla, they asked her to choose one of them to marry.
- F She kept it on a bridge that stretched across a great river.
- G He regretted what he had done and attempted to bring them back to life.
- H It centres on a woman called Loowitlatkla, which means Lady of Fire.
